

Inferring weather events from weather measures - especially useful for extreme events like Thunderstorms

